ALLIES CRASH INTO RHINELAND AND SAAR Yanks Destroy 118 Jap Planes in Manila Bay Area

Two Cargo Ships And Tanker Hit, Nimitz Reports

Carrier Planes In Fourth Attack

By CHARLES H. MCMURTRY
UNITED STATES PACIFIC
FLEET HEADQUARTERS, PEARL HARBOR, Nov. 20 (AP)—In their fourth strike in force this month at the Manila area, United States carrier planes Saturday destroyed a total of 118 Japanese planes and set fire to two large cargo ships and one large oil tanker, Adm. Chester
W. Nimitz announced today.

Only light Japanese fighter opposition was met as the carrier planes raked shipping and airfield targets.
Ten planes were shot down in the air, eight others destroyed by fighters near the American carriers and about 100 destroyed on the ground.

Total Bag of 731
This increased to 731 the total enemy warplanes destroyed by navy forces in the air or around in the Philippines this month.

(The month's unofficial grand total for the Philippines is 803 Japanese planes destroyed, including those smashed by army and naval flyers under command of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.)

Nimitz disclosed that Vice Adm.
J. S. McCain, formerly air commander in the South Pacific and recently naval air chief in Washington, commanded the carrier task force which hit Saturday.

Despite the heavy toll exacted on enemy shipping in repeated strikes on the Manila bay area, the apparent absence of vessels there Saturday is surprising, because of Ja-

GIFTS SHOWERED ON DOOMED BOY

FROM EVERY CORNER of the land, presents for "Nubbins" Hoffman have come flooding into Cheyenne, Wyo. "Nubbins" is the tragic little fellow suffering from an ailment which, it is feared, will cause his death before Christmas and so Christmas day was moved ahead in the Hoffman home—just in case! In this picture the lad's father, Marshall Hoffman, is surrounded by Xmas packages while little Beverly Gernar, 9, brings in a cocker spaniel puppy.

Specialist Interested: Stricken Hoffman Child Will Be Treated in a Denver Hospital

DENVER, Nov. 20 (AP)—Swathed in blankets, Forest (Nubbins) Hoffman, three-year-old Cheyenne, Wyo., boy whose dream Christmas yesterday attracted nationwide attention, arrived at a Denver hospital tonight.

Nubbins and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Hoffman, and the child's doctor, Dr. G. B. Savory, made the 100-mile trip from Cheyenne by automobile in an hour and a half. An examination will be made tomorrow by a Denver urologist who asked that his name be withheld.

Wildcats Keep Children from Going to School

VANCEBURG, Ky., Nov. 20 (AP)—Farmer Joseph Johnson drove a team of mules into Vanceburg today and won permission to keep his children away from school for several days because of the wildcats on the loose in the isolated Queens district.

Clad in threadbare overalls, mule whip over his shoulder, the 65-year-old Johnson and his sons, Orville, 26, and Selby, 10, talked the problem over with Lewis County School Superintendent Thomas W. Rowland.

"In Pretty Bad Shape"
Dr. Savory said he didn't think the trip to the hospital would do any good but that they were trying everything. The doctor said the child was "in pretty bad shape."

The child's father, in reply to a question, said that Nubbins felt "terrible." Asked if Nubbins enjoyed his Christmas, Hoffman replied "he didn't have a chance."

Nubbins is suffering from a bladder ailment which doctors have said is incurable. Because they were afraid he might not live until Dec. 25, his "Christmas" was arranged yesterday by his parents.

Too Much Excitement
The excitement of his "dream Christmas" did Nubbins no good. Earlier today he lay in his crib without much interest in anything. The piles of toys and unwrapped packages with which he played so joyously yesterday were left neglected.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoffman, two grandmothers and a private nurse attempted to ease the boy and get him to take nourishment. Only once in a while during the last few days has he been able to keep down what little he ate and his weight has dwindled to around eighteen pounds from over thirty pounds. In the last few days he has lost four pounds.

Nazi General Killed

SIXTH ARMY GROUP IN FRANCE, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Germans have lost another general, Major Gen. Oeschmann, commander of the Three Hundred and Thirty-eighth Infantry division, who was killed by artillery fire Nov. 14 at the start of the French offensive in the Belfort sector, it was learned today.

Russians Open Winter Drive In West Latvia

30 Nazi Divisions Reported Trapped

By W. W. HERCHER
LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Russian troops fought their way today into the outskirts of Miskolc, Hungary's fifth largest city, and Berlin announced that the Red army had opened its grand winter offensive on the frozen terrain of Western Latvia, where thirty German divisions are pinned against the Baltic sea.

German escape roads out of Miskolc, eighty-five miles northeast of besieged Budapest, were cut on the east and west as the Russians drove through Csaba, less than a mile south of Miskolc, a Hungarian bulletin announced.

Advance in Hungary
Russian troops in Hungary also drove to within two miles of Eger, another mountain town commanding the invasion roads to Southern Slovakia.

Moscow did not confirm the Latvian drive which Berlin said was sprung from the Russian salient around Priekule, twenty miles east-southeast of the Baltic port of Liepaja, one of two harbors available for any Nazi escape by sea.

This new onslaught, coming a few days after the general Allied push on the Western front, was considered the first of the "new devastating blows" which Marshal Stalin recently promised would be struck in the east.

500,000 Reds in Latvia
The Russians last were reported to have at least 500,000 troops on the Latvian front, and possibly 1,000,000—the men of Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Second Baltic army and those of Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army, co-commanders of Riga Oct. 13.

The driver was not yet confirmed by Moscow.

Col. Ernst von Hammer, German military commentator, said of the attack against the 5,000-square-mile pocket: "Strong Russian forces yesterday morning started another all-out offensive against the southern flank of the Courland (peninsula) front."

Later DNB news agency broadcast that a "murderous" rifle fire barrage and waves of assault aircraft supported the attack. "The Russians made full use of the frozen ground and sent in masses of tanks," DNB said. "A ferocious battle has ensued."

The new battle overshadowed momentarily the stubborn battles around Budapest and northeast of the Hungarian capital, and both German and Polish reports indicated large-scale Russian assaults were impending in East Prussia and Poland.

Expect Drive for Warsaw
The Germans said the Russians were massing men and material behind their lines in East Prussia and in Southern Poland on the road to Krakow and German Silesia, and the Polish telegraphic agency said the Germans expected a renewed drive against Warsaw shortly.

Music Said To Help Hay Fever Sufferers

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—The hay fever season is all over, praise be, but this one away for next year, composer Franz Borschtein, himself a sneezer, asserted today that the proper music is an all-weather remedy.

Not only that, Borschtein said, but a year of studio experiments has convinced him of the therapeutic value of tone and melody for neural, sunburn poisoning and general neurotic conditions as well.

Of course, the composer's theory had nothing to do with the fact that his newest work, "Ode to the Brave," dedicated to the heroes of the sunken aircraft carrier Hornet, will be given its world premiere by the National Symphony orchestra tomorrow night. Dr. Hans Kindler will conduct.

New Secret Weapon: Frenchman Tried It on 63 People, And They All Died, He Testifies

By JOSEPH DYNAN
PARIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Bearded Dr. Marcel Petiot admitted on the witness stand today the slaying of sixty-three persons—thirty of whom he said were Gestapo officers and the rest "traitorous" Frenchmen—as court hearings opened in one of Paris's most mysterious cases.

Petiot, in a dramatic four and one-half hour talk, wove a story of intrigue, plots and counterplots that extended into three continents and many nations, including the United States. Included in his testimony was mention of a "secret weapon" which he said he once had offered to the American consul, but which he said had been turned down.

Chinese Troops Recapture Town On Burma Road

CHUNGKING, Nov. 20 (AP)—Chinese troops are fighting inside Bhamo, strongest remaining Japanese base in North Burma, and have recaptured the Burma road town of Mangshi, sixty-two miles inside China from the Burma border, the Chinese high command announced today.

Against these Allied victories, the high command acknowledged indirectly that two great Japanese forces aggregating probably 250,000 troops who are invading Kwangsi province from the east and north had completed a junction west of Luichow, severing China and completing an unbroken link all the way from Manchuria to Hong Kong.

70,000 Chinese Refugees
Arrivals in Chungking reported that all routes leading from the danger zone in Kwangsi province were choked with refugees—a sorry spectacle of human misery. It was conservatively estimated that a total of 70,000 Chinese now had fled their homes since the war with Japan began in 1937.

Dr. Symons Asks Farmers' Help In War Effort

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Dr. T. B. Symons, director of the University of Maryland Extension Service, called upon Maryland farmers today to provide ample food supplies in 1945, declaring it was "unfair to our fighting heroes to x x x curtail our food production x x x in anticipation of an early victory."

Dr. Symons spoke at the opening of a three-day twenty-ninth annual conference of Free State county agricultural agents, home demonstration agents and extension workers.

Advice to Workers
He told his extension workers, "it is true to say that all of you have done a wonderful job in emergency after emergency. x x x We want to re-examine our extension job in the light of the new conditions and needs, as well as opportunities. We want to discuss how extension can best meet the immediate problems of rural people in the postwar period."

Opportunities for ex-servicemen in the agricultural field were limited, he said, adding:

"None of us will shrink from doing everything we can to assist returning veterans. They should not be discouraged to enter this field without previous experience."

Asks Service to People
Commenting upon federal-state relations, Dr. Symons declared that "we have found that the closer education is linked with administration, leadership and regulation, the better it is for ultimate results in service to our people."

"Therefore, all of us must give careful thought to the future set-up in the counties x x x, or do we want to see a distinct, independent federal administrator in the counties charged with the responsibilities of all federal programs except education? My belief is that the county agent should be the acknowledged head with broad general jurisdiction over all agricultural programs within a county."

Congress May Oppose V-E Day Celebration

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Congress will be asked to go on record against any celebration of "victory" when Germany surrenders.

Rep. Brehm (R-Ohio) said today he will introduce a resolution calling on the country to "remember that V-E day will not mean the end of the war."

"We still will have the Japanese to subdue," Brehm added in an interview. "And it would be in bad taste at home and unfair to our fighting men in the Pacific to engage in happy celebrations."

Americans Fight Off Jap Attack In North Ormoc

By DEAN SCHEDLER
GENERAL MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS, PHILIPPINES, Tuesday, Nov. 21 (AP)—Lashed by the third typhoon of the Leyte island campaign, mud-begrimed American infantrymen fought off a new Japanese counterattack and continuous armor-led pressure to close their grip around trapped enemy remnants in Northern Ormoc corridor, headquarters reported today.

Pierce winds and walls of rain hammered the fighting fronts, disrupted communications and challenged the American armor. The air force offensive and defensive action.

Grim American infantrymen of the Thirty-second division are making "steady progress" in reducing strongly fortified Japanese positions near Limon, at the northern end of Leyte island's Ormoc corridor, headquarters reported today.

The American road block across Ormoc highway south of Limon still holds, despite heavy Japanese attack. The Imperial First division, aided by artillery and armor, is attempting to break through the trap enclosing them around Limon.

The Yanks repulsed another enemy counterattack west of Ormoc road, where a three-hour bloody battle was reported in yesterday's communiqué.

Chiang's Position Seems Stronger

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek has considerably strengthened his control of the Chinese government by his cabinet shake-up.

Whether he will use his stronger position to reorganize the army, seek improvement in China's economic and political affairs and try for co-operation with the Communists of North China is still a wide open question.

American officials are looking for the answer but they are not looking through rose colored glasses. There is a distinct air of skepticism about the whole affair insofar as its effect on China's war effort is concerned. Some hope is felt in official quarters that the effect will be good, but fingers are crossed.

War Department Dismisses Youth Who Bagged Nazi Plane at Age 16

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—A 16-year-old veteran, who participated in twenty-five missions as a tail gunner over such targets as the Abbey of Mt. Cassino, the Anzio beachhead and Toulon on the D-day invasion of Southern France, is working for an aircraft company here, assembling the same type of guns with which he shot down a ME-109.

An orphan, Raymond M. Hite, enlisted in the air forces back in September, 1942, and served two years before his age caught up with him.

He shot down a Messerschmidt on his first bombing mission in a B-26 Marauder, as it returned from bombing the Giampino airbase at Rome.

"I saw my tracers going into the engine nacelle of the ME-109 and the cockpit," Raymond said. "The plane started smoking, then began to spin and never snapped out of it. The pilot must have been killed," he added.

Flak was particularly heavy over Anzio, the veteran recalled and his ship had its hydraulic line shot out, but "we got home safely."

Ray's grandmother finally discovered that he was in combat and reported his age to the War Department, who sent him home, but not before he had won the air medal, the Croix de Guerre and his group had been recommended for a presidential citation.

Sweeping Drive Turns German Southern Flank

Patton's Troops Slab into Germany

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
SUPREMACY HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Paris, Nov. 20 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's Allied armies pushed into both the Rhineland and the Saar Basin today in sweeping advances which turned the German southern flank and cracked the enemy line from Luxembourg to Switzerland.

Virtually all organized resistance in the once-powerful citadel of Metz came to a halt.

French Continue To Gain
Armored units of the First French army continued to pour through Belfort gap, striking into the city of Belfort itself and driving deeper into the flatlands along the river Rhine, where they had reached the German border last night at the end of a two-day thirty-mile thrust near the Swiss frontier.

United States Third Army, which already was stabbing into Germany at several points, sent a new armored column smashing across the border east of Thionville, and at last reports it was two miles inside Germany and the same distance from the Saar river at Metz.

Seven Miles from Metz
The Third army surged ahead three to six miles at numerous places along its whole front, which now is seven miles beyond Metz as a result of the link-up of the two forces that swung around the city from either side.

The only resistance left inside Metz—and that was spotty—was in the extreme northern and southern tips of the city. Patton's doughboys were wiping out the last defenders in both sections.

With their southern flank unhinged from the Swiss frontier and their Vosges mountain line threatened from the rear, the Germans were falling back everywhere before the French First army and the American Seventh and Third armies.

U. S. Competition Held Dangerous To Corporations

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—A financial consultant testified today at a federal power commission hearing on interstate wholesale rates of the Safe Harbor Water Power Corporation, that possibility of government competition constituted a "serious risk" for the future of the corporation's earnings.

The consultant, Albert W. Kimber, declared that in investment circles it had become "axiomatic" that if government "competes with any private enterprise, that enterprise is sunk."

He described as one risk to Safe Harbor and its earnings "the possibility of government hydroelectric developments" on the Susquehanna and Potomac rivers which he said have been under study "for several years" by federal agencies.

Sees Serious Effects
Kimber, said the prospect of government competition had had "serious effects" on the attitude of investors toward electric utility bonds.

The corporation owns and operates facilities used for transmission and sale at wholesale of hydroelectric power generated at a dam on the Susquehanna river in Pennsylvania and transmitted to points in Pennsylvania, Maryland and the District of Columbia.

Cigarets $4.00 a Pack: Black Market Has Them in Paris; Officers Rationed, None for GI's

PARIS, Nov. 20 (AP)—The supreme Allied command tonight promised to try to report to the American public on the cigarette situation in Paris and many other rear areas where soldiers were told today they could get no cigarettes, although the black market has them for sale at $4 a pack.

Officers in the Paris and rear areas were put on reduced cigarette rations last week and enlisted men received none. The scarcity here is linked to supply and transport problems contrasted with the Allied offensive, officials said earlier today. They expected troops in the rear areas to get some smokes next week.

Meanwhile, a large amount of army cigarettes has somehow been diverted into the black market. Vendors sold American cigarettes at $1.50 per pack two weeks ago to war-weary Parisians. Now, at $4, they still are getting more offers than they can fill.

Sale of cigarettes is to be discontinued immediately at all United States Army post exchanges in England with the exception of those at air force combat stations.

A critical shortage for use of combat forces on the continent caused the shutdown on sales, the army said. English brands cost about fifty cents for a package of twenty.

Hospital patients, replacements and combat personnel in rear areas still will be able to smoke their favorite brands from the states.

Navy Reports Loss Of Ten Vessels

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The navy reported tonight the loss of ten craft, including a destroyer and two destroyer escorts.

The vessels, a communiqué said, were lost as the result of enemy action "or the perils of the sea" in the Southwest Pacific but they were not in the recent great naval battle.

"The department previously had reported the loss of six ships in the Philippines battle of Oct. 24-25, including a light carrier, two escort carriers and a destroyer escort."

Today's announcement brings the total loss of navy ships of all types since the beginning of the war to 122.

Germans May Be Forced To Make Stand on Rhine

By KIRKE L. SIMPSON
Associated Press War Analyst

A surprise French First Army dash through the Belfort gap to reach the upper Rhine close to the Swiss border seemed likely to force a German retreat in the South for his hand pressed troops in the Saar area and the Aachen sector, where the main weight of the Allied six-army offensive is striking, without weakening his lower Rhine front.

Would Not Shorten Front

Such a "disengagement" move on the South flank would not greatly shorten the Nazi defensive front. It would, however, release first line troops, now deployed to guard the passes of the Vosges, for support of those battling the American Third Army's wide-fronted thrust at the Saar basin gateway.

Secondary troops, dependable for field operations, could offer stubborn resistance from the Rhine fortifications along the upper river. It seems obvious that the supreme need of the foe as the Allied winter break-through campaign develops is adequate first line reserves to meet the Saar and Aachen areas attacks without weakening the still dominant but critical neder Rhine front in Holland.

Rhine Front Vulnerable

By every sign it is in that northern sector that the German command expects the culminating Allied attack to come in due course. The Rhine front itself is vulnerable at that point.

It is there, guarding the Dutch extension of the Siegfried line, that Allied reports have indicated the cream of German shock troops in the west are concentrated. Yet the massive drive launched by General Eisenhower along virtually the whole line south of that Dutch sector is making such progress that no Nazi recourse but retreat or the bringing in of heavy reinforcements from the east or Italy remains.

Faced by that dilemma, the Nazi command will may elect to retreat behind the Rhine in the south, or if necessary, along its whole length, rather than shuttle troops westward from the Warsaw front on the Vistula in Poland. For there can be no doubt that heavy Russian forces have been massed there for a major effort to match the Allied winter drive in the West.

Higher Wages Urged by Green

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 20 (AP)—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, sounded a keynote of higher wage scales in opening the annual convention of the AFL here today in municipal auditorium.

He declared that higher wages were justified for labor to maintain prosperity in the postwar world because of technological developments which enable the individual worker to produce more goods.

The workers of America must produce the income to pay the public debt and obligations of the war, Green said, "and they cannot do it if they do not have the wages."

Appeals to CIO

The head of AFL, without calling the CIO by name, appeared in his address for "those who left the home of labor to come back and unite with us."

Under reconversion to jobs, Green said that the AFL now had more than 1,500,000 members in the armed forces, and that on their return "practically all" unions would admit them as new members without the payment of initiation fees.

No Lines Drawn

And, he said, "there will be no lines drawn between the civilian workers and the service man. They will be our comrades and we will be theirs."

On the home front, Green declared that there were "7,000,000 members of the army of production who also had been sharing the sacrifices of war." Because, he said, "more men have been injured and killed in workshops, mills, mines and factories than on the battlefields."

Hitler's Will Leaves Estate to Party

LONDON, Tuesday, Nov. 21 (AP)—The Daily Sketch said today that "according to information received by two diplomatic sources here the Nazi party is now in possession of Hitler's will—and this indicates Hitler is dead."

The will, the Sketch added, leaves all Hitler's property and business assets to the Nazi party and disinherits his relatives.

Hitler's main estate is his interest in the Eher Verlag, the publishing firm which made a vast fortune out of "Mein Kampf." His only property in land, which is Berchtesgaden, also goes to the party," said the paper.

The official canvass of the vote in the states is proceeding according to their laws and it is expected they will not be completed before mid-December. A final table of the official vote then will be compiled by the Associated Press.

White Protests Interference of Federal Agencies

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP)—President Roy B. White of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad told stockholders today that there appears to be a disposition on the part of government agencies other than the Interstate Commerce Commission to interfere with established rate-making methods.

White asserted this tendency was evidenced by the anti-trust suit recently instituted by the department of justice against the Western Railroad Association, the Association of American Railroads and the officers and directors of the organizations.

Sees Danger Ahead

"While detailed discussion of the suit would hardly be proper here," White commented, "I bring this to your attention because of the implications and the possible effect upon railroad rates and, indeed, upon railroad transportation generally, should the department of justice succeed in obtaining a decree dissolving the Association of American Railroads and interfering with its important and effective work."

The B. and O. president also reported at the one hundred and eighteenth annual meeting of stockholders, at which twelve directors were re-elected, that the carrier recognized was certain that the railroad will face more severe competition after the war.

Estimates Revenues

White estimated that gross revenues for the current year would aggregate $388,338,600, an increase of $30,196,440 over 1943, but said net income would decrease to about $22,275,300, or about $8,000,000 less than for 1943. He estimated the increase in taxes for this year at approximately $7,000,000.

In reporting on finances, White said that since the 1938 adjustment plan was made effective, more than $100,000,000 of the company's indebtedness has been retired. Of the $122,000,000 in debt maturing this year, the B. and O. has not found it possible however, to meet or refund about $84,000,000 but has worked out a new adjustment plan under which this can be done.

George Kight, Spruce street, mechanic of the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company was named commissioner to serve the unexpired term of Mr. McIntyre and Commissioner George Cleaver was named treasurer to succeed McIntyre.

Barnard suggested the name of Edward S. Moran be considered as commissioner. No other names were placed under consideration, however.

Commissioner William Ravenscraft acted as temporary chairman while the mayor was selected. In resigning Barnard thanked the council for its co-operation and courtesy and conscientiousness in its work.

Publisher Named To Senate Seat

COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 20 (AP)—Wilton E. Hall, Anderson newspaper editor and publisher, was appointed tonight by Governor Olin D. Johnston to serve the unexpired term of the late United States Senator Ellison D. (Cotton) Ed Smith.

Hall, a native of Anderson, has been editor and publisher of the Independent and Daily Mail in that city for ten or more years. He is a life-long friend of Governor Johnston's.

Smith, 80-year-old dean of the Senate, died at his plantation home near Lynchburg last Friday, just six weeks short of completing thirty-six years in Congress. He had been defeated in the summer Democratic primary by Governor Johnston who will take the seat next Jan. 20.

The First army, fighting on the right side of the Aachen wedge, slugged its way forward as much as two miles in the rain, clearing Hastenrath, northwest of Stolberg, and capturing Heister and Wenau in a drive through the northern edge or Hurtgen forest to within six miles of Duren.

Carrier Planes Help

In addition, fifteen were destroyed and five more probably over Leyte island when carrier planes joined the attack on an enemy reinforcement attempt Nov. 10.

These figures represent the minima from communiques which, in listing the Nov. 12 strike, added that ten more planes might have been destroyed around and two more in the air.

Carrier planes have sunk twenty-one Japanese ships, probably sunk three and damaged six in Manila bay during this month. They added seven more sunk, two probably and one damaged around Leyte, for a total of forty sunk or damaged and thereby lost, at least temporarily, to the vital Imperial merchant fleet in the Philippines.

Nimitz also announced new raids by land-based aircraft ranging from the Kurile islands to equatorial Nauru on Nov. 17 and 18.

ALL NATURE PREPARES FOR WINTER - HOW ABOUT YOU ?

For winter transportation, the SNOWSHOE RABBIT actually grows his own snowshoes in the form of long, stiff hairs on his feet that improve his "traction." And nature's camouflage also turns his extra warm winter coat white for protection.

THE SNOWSHOE RABBIT IS ALL SET FOR WINTER TRANSPORTATION

Lucky rabbit! He never has to worry about "stalling" in deep drifts . . . nor about freezing cold.

It's different with cars. Nature doesn't help them. In fact, time and hard use and the elements all work to harm both finish and functional parts. These things should be watched . . . checked regularly by someone who really knows.

Your Plymouth, Dodge, De Soto or Chrysler dealer has a very real interest in keeping your car running at its best. He has tools to test and adjust it. He has genuine factory-engineered and inspected parts. His experienced mechanics know every detail of the car's operation.

Your Engine needs tuning for cold weather driving, for easy starting, to avoid stalling, and to compensate for low octane wartime gas. It needs lighter oil, too.

Your Electrical System Battery should be tested and recharged if necessary for cold weather starting. Also clean and tighten cable connections.

Your Cooling System needs flushing. All hose connections should be checked to prevent leaks. Replace hose if necessary. Add anti-freeze.

Your Braking System Adjust brakes so they function equally—for safety, and to save on tire wear. Retire if necessary. Check stop light operation.

Necessary Help

On Two Fronts

THE ANNUAL COMMUNITY CHEST AND NATIONAL WAR FUND DRIVE now under way in this city, having been auspiciously launched at the kick-off dinner meeting last evening at the Central Y. M. C. A.

It is a wise thing to have these national and local campaigns combined in a single co-ordinated program. It prevents duplication of effort and loss of time, and thus gives more opportunity to carry on the other necessary work on the home front.

The Community Chest takes care of our local charities. It is a long-established institution, which has wrought great good—indeed, it has played a major part in building Cumberland into the alert, progressive, civic-minded community in which its people take so much pride. Without these charitable organizations, all of them meeting definite human needs and worthy of making it hard to say where Cumberland would be. Certainly it would be far below the plane it now occupies and much less able to seize the opportunities for advancement as they are presented. The city faces tremendous postwar prospects and these should not be blighted.

What is done for Cumberland through its Community Chest is done for our fighting boys and girls on the battle fronts and on their way thither and back by the National War Fund, only on a larger and grander scale. There is in the heart of everyone a yearning to do everything that can be done to ease and comfort the fighting men and women. There are other ways, of course, in which they are kept supplied with the things of war and in which it is their patriotic duty to give every possible assistance. But here is one way in which a help will be provided that no other channel connects.

It is deplorable that the newspapers cannot picture more the awful hardships and sufferings that are undergone by the fighters at the front as they should be grim realization of it all. This has been made impossible by the newspaper and other shortages caused by the war. But editors of newspapers can see these pictures and can appreciate full well, even if they cannot get the graphic representations to their readers, the dreadful experience all along the line. The War fund will help to alleviate these terrible experiences, and in a way which will bring the heartfelt appreciation and thanks of the recipients. The need is great and obvious.

The whole plan of solicitation for this combined drive is on a voluntary basis. Men and women are giving their time and effort to collect the contributions, going from place to place, house to house. Their work should be appreciated by all those whom they approach just as the need of the work they represent should be understood. The response to their appeals should be instant and wholehearted. They should not be stood off, nor should the appeal be evaded. This is the spirit of war effort, and the more earnest and co-operative and effective that is the sooner will this frightful devastating thing be brought to an end.

Over-Spending Versus Thrift

THE STATEMENT of W. Randolph Burgess, president of the American Bankers Association, that over-spending and "spurious prosperity" in the 1920's, and not over-saving, brought on the depression of the following decade brings two thoughts immediately to mind. One is that every individual knows that his own financial crises arise as a rule from over-spending instead of from over-saving. The other is that there can never be too much convincing propaganda in behalf of the wisdom of saving.

According to Mr. Burgess, the American people are saving money with vengeance right now, having put away approximately $100,000,000,000 since the war began. He concedes that the nation is becoming savings-conscious as never before. But he fears that it would be easy to give away to another period of spending and he is interested in having the swing toward saving become a permanent habit.

Propaganda in favor of the virtue of thrift should be more attractive. It is apparent that public agencies do not fear mention of the money angle in their publicity. For instance, efforts have long been made to prevent young people from indulging in law-breaking by informing them that crime doesn't pay, the implication being that it wouldn't be so bad if it did. Well, being a spendthrift doesn't pay, either.

Those who spend their money foolishly never have anything to show for it. Benjamin Franklin, who was a very shrewd person, said that a man may, if he knows not how to save as he gets, keep his nose to the grindstone. That should not be interpreted as meaning that spending money freely promotes industry. But it is true that if one spends as he earns, he will have to earn until the social security payments come in at the age of 65. It is those who save as they earn who have some tangible results to show for their labors.

The Engineers Are on the Job

ENGINEERS are playing a remarkable part in the present war effort, the importance of which is generally appreciated. There is, for example, completion of the main portion of a fuel pipeline which ultimately will reach from Calcutta to China across Burma and from which a two-year blanket of secrecy has just been lifted. Already the longest military operational pipeline in the world, its construction is one of the most remarkable engineering feats of the war.

When completed, the line will have at least double the capacity of the Ledo road, which it was built to supplant. So far it has crossed three rivers and when finished it will cross several more. Allied forces in North Burma are already being supplied gasoline by it. One part of the system is used to fill the gigantic tanks of Superfortresses in India and one of its major tasks is to feed gasoline into the planes ferrying fuel to Maj. Gen. Claire L. Chennault's fourteenth United States Air Force in China. Thus heavy bombers, which at times have had to help haul gasoline over the great hump in order to continue raids from China, may be used full time for combat duty when the line is completed.

This is a remarkable achievement by the unheralded, unglamorous, unsung engineers who have been plodding away in this war but whose achievements deserve the highest praise.

They're No Longer The "Supermen"

REGARDLESS of the mystery concerning Adolf Hitler's status or whereabouts, one fact stands out boldly in recent German pronouncements and that is the completely defensive tone they strike. No more does Joseph Paul Goebbels prattle about supermen, or the destiny of Nazi Germany to conquer and rule the world, or to wipe out the decadent democracies. Now it simply is a matter of self-preservation.

The recent proclamation which was attributed to Hitler went so far as to call for guerrilla fighting against Allied forces. Hitler, of course, is still moaning that the Bolsheviks are going to take over Germany with the consent of the democracies, ignoring the point that Russia's disposition toward the German nation actually is softer than that of Britain or the United States.

But it is doubtful if the Germans, as a people, will follow their leaders' pleas that they emulate the "heroic" Japanese. The Germans may be political fanatics, but they are not known for carrying fanaticism to the point of self-destruction. Heretofore, the Germans have quit at the moment when their own land was in danger of devastation.

Perhaps a good guess is that most Germans would prefer to vote for self-preservation the easiest way right now and are stopped only by Hitler's private army of torturers and executioners. There is no point in underestimating the strength of this Hitler army. It has kept Germany fighting for some time and it may succeed for several more months. But it is being rocked and blasted on the western front as never before.

German Financial Panic Significant

REPORTS of disturbances inside Germany are so persistent that they cannot be brushed aside as hopeful wishing. Of all the reports, the one that there is a financial panic raging appears to be the most cheering news for the Allies.

A financial panic will undermine the morale of a nation as quickly and effectively as a major defeat on the battlefield. Military defeats create desperation, but when the home structure crumbles people become like sheep. Hitler's death probably would not have as profound an effect on Germany as a financial panic.

When the German people realize they are losing the roofs over their heads and the wherewithal to buy bread, interest in fighting the war to the bitter end will fade as vapor before a summer sun. That condition may be developing within Germany now. The army as yet does not reflect it, for it is fighting fiercely and tenaciously.

But when the props at home go out from under the military machine at the front, army morale will wilt as soldiers conclude they have little left to fight for.

Before his disappearance, Hitler always attended funerals of his generals. Realizing, perhaps, they would gladly have done as much for him.

France is asking for $2,000,000,000 in American goods. Uncle Sam is destined to have the usual experience with poor relations.

The War Labor Board's order freezing everyone to his job seems to have been effective politically as well as industrially.

Gen. Stilwell lost his job because he wanted to go too fast. Those Chinese are just naturally not prepossessing.

Sour Grapes Are Useful

By MARSHAL MASLIN

I'm a hungry fox sitting a climbing grape vine, eyeing so eagerly those purple bunches that hang beyond my reach.

Though I stand on two legs and stretch my paws so far, so far, I cannot touch them. Unless they fall of their own initiative into my waiting mouth, I shall never get them. They are not for me. The hungry fox can never crush them, taste them, let the juice run down his parched throat.

So they are sour . . . I would not like them even if I had them! They are beautiful but worthless! I would spit them out and make a wry face if they fell to me. They may be sweet to the birds but that's just because the birds have no taste. To me they are sour.

How fortunate that this hungry fox can so easily reject the joys he may not enjoy. . . . What would he do, what would the rest of us do if we could not disdain and scandalize the grapes that hang beyond our reach? If we would suffer! They are not for me. The hungry fox can never crush them, taste them, let the juice run down his parched throat.

We can loaf and parasite on life. We can waste our days with never a pang of conscience with never a twinge for what we might have been. We can be like the lad Brownings poem who heard men praising another and said to himself: "I could paint pictures like that youth they praise so!" If he wanted to, if we wanted to. But it's easier to say: "Those grapes are green and sour!" Sour grapes are a sweet invention to save our pride and comfort our laziness and free us from self-reproach when we have surrendered what we ought to have and have failed to do the best we know.

LET'S ALL DO OUR SHARE TO MAKE IT A HARD WINTER

Maintenance of Little Steel Formula Is Seen as Result of Committee Report

By MARK SULLIVAN

On Saturday a committee appointed by President Roosevelt gave out a report saying, in effect, that cost of living has not increased as much as labor leaders claim it has. An inference from this is that wholesale wage increases demanded by labor leaders will not be granted by the administration.

Then, Sunday night began the drive sponsored by the president to urge the public to buy fourteen billion dollars more of War bonds.

The coincidence of these two events may not have been intended. But it has a wholesome meaning. The administration's resistance to a general wage increase is the best possible argument to induce the public to buy War bonds. It is more solidly assuring than the millions of words of emotional appeal that go out over the radio.

Costs Are Resisted, Too

For resistance to a general wage increase is resistance to increased cost of goods. And this, if maintained, is assurance that the dollars which the public now put into War bonds will have the same purchasing power when the bonds are paid off. In short, resistance to a general wage increase, and what would follow, is an indication that the administration is determined to hold the line against inflation. And prevention of inflation is an assurance of the value and desirability of War bonds as investments.

The report of the president's committee, saying that cost of living has not increased as much as labor leaders claim, is the climax of a series of contentious incidents. First, the official government agency handling statistics on cost of living, reported that the war-time increase had been 25.5 per cent. Against this, labor leaders cried out. They put their own statistics to work, and asserted that the increase has been forty-four per cent. Upon this assumption labor leaders demanded increases of wage rates. Thereupon President Roosevelt appointed a committee to find out just what the increase has been. This committee, headed by Chairman William H. Davis of the War Labor Board, now reports that, broadly, the government statistics are accurate, but adds that the increase in cost of living may be four or five points percentage more, somewhere between twenty-nine and thirty per cent.

Answer Indicated

This report of the president's committee bears on, and points toward, an answer to the demand of the labor leaders for a general increase in wage rates. About this the essential facts are:

The War Labor Board, some months after we entered the war, fixed a ceiling on wage increases. The ceiling, called the "Little Steel"

NAMED TO FCC POST

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT has sent the nomination of Paul A. Porter to the Senate for confirmation as a member of the Federal Communications Commission. Porter, who is director of publicity for the Democratic National Committee, is expected to succeed James Lawrence Fly as chairman.

formula, is fifteen per cent above what had been the wage level in any industry on January 1, 1941. About a year ago CIO unions demanded increases above the Labor board's ceiling. AFL unions made corresponding demands. Labor leadership is a competitive occupation. Leaders of one group cannot afford to let leaders of another group be more diligent in demanding wage increases. The demands have been pending for months, with loud complaints by labor leaders that the administration was stalling.

Same Ceiling Suggested

During the early part of the recent campaign, cynics said the administration would grant the labor leaders' demands before the election. When it became apparent this would not happen, the cynics changed their prediction to an indication, saying the labor leaders could have confidence that their demands would be granted after the election. The present action of the president's committee suggests, though it does not necessarily prove, that the labor leaders' demands will not be granted, that the Labor board's ceiling will be kept intact.

As to this, the final answer will not be known for some weeks.

Meanwhile, this week, both CIO and AFL will be in annual convention. If their leaders are really convinced that their demands for wage increases above the Labor board's ceiling will not be granted, they may utter explosive words, possibly threaten explosive action.

Barbaric Mating Plan by Shaw Is Held Unrealistic

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—George Bernard Shaw has set forth upon the front pages his conception of the coming world which seems to be about halfway back to Methuselah and halfway ahead to Superman.

It is to be a place where some think savage ideals prevail. Indeed he thinks that time already has arrived when women get their men "like the Danakils," the Ethiopian tribe in which he says the males were required to show four scalps on their belts before being considered for mating.

Mr. Shaw would have seen some unusual women lately, as those requirements do not seem to be in effect around here.

The important and disturbing dream of Mr. Shaw's future world political mating has equally great dramatic possibilities for a play but is equally unrealistic. He conjures up a sphere dominated apparently by communistic ideals and catholic ideals, but with the communistic ideals obviously dominant because man is to work for the state, or at least not be guided by any democratic theories.

Super-World State

This all seems to be somewhat confused in Mr. Shaw's mind, but essentially what he wants, or thinks is coming, is a super-world state.

The best officials eyes here or at least those sharp enough and close enough to the situation to see everything going on inside have failed to discern anything like that kind of a world in immediate prospect. There will be no super state in the coming peace. You may be sure of that.

The resistance here to the merging of sovereignties is evident in State department policies, and really has not been brought up seriously since Mr. Wallace tried out the same vague idea so unsuccessfully in some speeches a year or two back advocating a peace that would take us halfway to communism and bring communism halfway to us. The trend of the Dumbarton Oaks agreement completely discards this old and highly imaginative theory.

Also Mr. Shaw does not seem to have read Mr. Roosevelt's campaign speeches, pledging himself to free enterprise and the democratic system, which has done about as well in this war as any other, since it is supplying the world and producing the wherewithal of victory. Russia clearly could not have won without our help.

Radical Viewpoint

The philosophic Mr. Shaw evidently is looking at the matter the way most communists and radicals seem to see it without recognizing the superior job democracy has done and can do.

But Mr. Shaw has presented at least a correct discernment of the forces evident behind the news of current international developments. He speaks of both catholicism and communism in the philosophic sense that Christian idealism springs from the Bible as the opposing communist ideal springs from Marx.

He is merely overlooked the fact that the Bible, in its philosophic essence, also represents the democratic ideal of the individuality of the human soul, of the personal being of a man, and it is not compatible with his enslavement to the state—as in fact, Marx himself recognized in his characterization of all religion as dope for the minds of the people.

These two ideals are just as far apart as the savagery Shaw mentioned in relation to mating as he calls it, and marriage as the Bible conceives it to be. You cannot compromise them in statecraft any more than in the social relationship between men and women.

Hitler, who borrowed most of his fascism from communistic theories, also conceived marriage to be a relationship to be encouraged primarily in the interest of the state.

Marriage Justified

Christianity conceives marriage to be an individual compact primarily for the good of the individuals involved in their human relation to God. But even from a non-religious standpoint, marriage is justified by natural law. It has proved over many thousands of years to furnish the best way to raise children. Mere mating hardly offers the required permanent and serious guidance, or encourages parental responsibility.

The Marxian-Hitler and communistic philosophies recognized this also by trying to supplant the lack of individual parental discipline with discipline by the state.

Mr. Shaw obviously is still a dramatist, and has taken his customary long stretched license with realism.

Stand by Catholic Bishops Is Called A Big Peace Aid

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20. (AP)—A declaration of world-wide importance and one that must inevitably play a part in the discussions leading up to the establishment of an international organization to preserve peace has just been made by the Catholic bishops of the United States.

It is the most far-reaching statement yet made by any group, religious or otherwise, in defining international obligations in the new world order and is about the most liberal document presented thus far.

It is liberal because it boldly and unequivocally says that there can be no peace unless minorities within a country are treated with justice and because it calls for the Four Freedoms to be established and guaranteed by all nations within their own borders, including our Allies, as a condition of membership in any new league.

It is liberal, too, because it insists that prostrate nations shall be aided to develop into useful members of international society and because it cries out for a world court with teeth in it—a court whose functions shall not be merely advisory but judicial and whose decrees shall be enforced.

Moral Forces Stimulated

Church groups have been vocal heretofore on the subject of peace plans. The Federal Council of the Churches of Christ—a Protestant church organization—has expressed itself on the subject and doubtless will express itself again. The moral forces of America will continue to be stimulated and heartened by the fidelity of all church groups to principles of justice rather than expediency even though the questions are delicate and difficult.

Here are some significant extracts from the statement of the Catholic bishops:

"If public opinion is indifferent or uninformed," the statement says, "we shall run the risk of a bad peace and perhaps return to the tragedy of 'power politics' which in the past divided nations and sowed the seeds of war. . . .

"This war came largely from bad education. It was not brought on by primitives or unlettered peoples. The contemporary philosophy which asserts the right of aggression is the creation of scholars. Discarding moral principles and crowding God out of human life, scholars produced the monstrous philosophies which, embodied in political and social systems, enslave human reason and destroy the consciousness of innate human right and duties. . . .

Compromising Fatal

"We have no confidence in a peace which does not carry into effect, without reservations or equivocations, the principles of the Atlantic Charter. We feel, too, that it should provide assistance for prostrate nations in reconstructing their economic, social and political institutions. If justice is compromised, if unreasonable concessions are made to might, grievances will rankle in the bosom of aggrieved nations to endanger the peace of the world. . . .

"The ideology of a nation in its internal life is a concern of the international community. To reject this principle is tantamount to maintaining that the violation of the innate rights of men in a country by its own government has no relation to world peace. Just at this moment in the interest of world peace, our nation is exerting itself to root out some ideologies which violate human rights in the countries we are liberating. We hold that if there is to be a genuine and lasting world peace, the international organization should demand as a condition of membership that every nation guarantee in law and respect in fact the innate rights of men, families, and minority groups in their civil and religious life.

Tyranny a Menace

"Surely our generation should know that tyranny in any nation menaces world peace. A nation which refuses to accord to its own people the full enjoyment of innate human rights cannot be relied upon to co-operate in the international community for the maintenance of a peace which is based on the recognition of national freedom. Such a nation will pursue its own selfish international policies, while playing lip service to international co-operation. . . .

"While it is reasonable to set up a security council with limited membership, the council must not be an instrument for imperialistic domination by a few powerful nations. Before it every nation must stand on its rights and not on its power. It must not allow any nation to sit in judgment in its own case."

Irrespective of one's own religion or creed, the statement of the Catholic bishops will be looked upon as a distinct contribution to the discussion of world peace plans. In attendance at the meeting which approved the declaration were 103 bishops from all parts of the United States and on the administrative board which signed the document were seven archbishops, including Archbishop Spellman, of New York, who has been entrusted with various special missions by President Roosevelt.

In 1943, 1,896 ships were built in the United States—nearly seventy times the prewar average.

The average time for building a Liberty ship has been cut from 244 days to thirty-two.

By 1943, there were eighty-one United States shipyards able to produce ocean-going merchant vessels.

Buy bonds till it hurts!

Go without and do without if need be to help speed the pace of victory

THE young man in this picture obviously is an extreme example. Our Government certainly does not expect any of us to go that far in restricting our buying—even in order to put the 6th War Loan over the top.

But it certainly will help make our fighting forces feel that their sacrifices are appreciated if we deny ourselves some things we could have bought and put the money into extra War Bonds instead. Remember, War Bonds pay off at maturity at the rate of $4 for every $3 invested. Help your country and help yourself—try to buy at least one extra $100 Bond while this 6th War Loan Drive is on.

WAYS OF MAKING CRANBERRIES GO FARTHER OUTLINED

Bad weather has cut the 1944 cranberry crop to about one half of last year's supply. Miss Maude A. Bean has been informed by Margaret McPheters, extension nutritionist at the University of Maryland. Several methods of stretching the low supply of cranberries are suggested, including apples or citrus fruit as extenders.

A raw relish, which can be kept in a covered dish in the refrigerator for a week or two, Miss Bean suggests, one cup of cranberries, one orange, one apple, from one third to one half cup of sugar and one eighth teaspoon of salt. The berries, apple, orange, rind and all, should be run through the food chopper with a coarse blade and the sugar and salt combined.

For those who prefer the traditional red, tart jelly, Miss Bean suggests, the use of apples to stretch the cranberries. Although apple juice and cranberry juice may be combined for clear jelly, Miss Bean favors the more economical use of the jelly fruit with the whole berry left in, and apple juice added to make it go further.

As an alternate for cranberry sauce or relish, the home demonstration agent suggests the recipe for uncooked citrus relish, consisting of two cored apples, one orange and the rind of one fourth of it; one grapefruit, one tablespoon of lemon juice; and one fourth cup of sugar. She says to cut the sections of grapefruit into small pieces and add them to the other fruit put through the food chopper; combine with the other ingredients and chill overnight to blend the flavors.

Former Meyersdale Chief of Police Resided In Sand Patch

By W. A. SHOEMAKER

MEYERSDALE, Pa., Nov. 20—John Henry Bittner, 47, for the past several years chief of police of Meyersdale, died yesterday afternoon on the operating table in Memorial hospital, Cumberland, where he was removed for a spinal infection Friday afternoon.

Mr. Bittner was born in nearby Glade City, a son of Irven Bittner and the late Mrs. Bittner, Larimer township. Following his marriage to Miss Grace Beal, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew O. Beal, he took up his residence in Sand Patch. Surviving him are his widow, his father and two brothers, Henry and Thomas Bittner, both of Larimer township.

Besides his duties as chief of police Mr. Bittner served as a deputy sheriff in the local district as an appointee by Sheriff John I. Smith, Somerset. He was an active member of the Hostetler Church of the Brethren in Greenville township, and for a number of years had served as superintendent of the Sunday school.

Chief Bittner was considered an officer of unusual ability and frequently was active in bringing law breakers to justice locally as well as in districts outside of his jurisdiction as a local police officer, frequently assisting the members of the state police force in western Pennsylvania and Maryland.

The body was removed from Cumberland to his late home in Sand Patch yesterday afternoon, but funeral arrangements are incomplete.

Enlisting in the Army Air Corps in 1942, a few months after the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor, Lt. Mercier had almost completed his training and was about ready to go overseas.

He was a son of Wootton and Fannie Shipley Mercier, formerly of Meyersdale, now residing at Providence, R. I. They resided in Pittsburgh for some years where Lt. Mercier was a member of the First Lutheran church, and retained membership there after leaving the city.

The lieutenant, one of a family of six children, attended the Meyersdale public schools. His maternal grandfather, the late John T. Shipley, was a prominent hardware merchant, besides serving as burgess and postmaster of Meyersdale.

Surviving him in addition to his parents are two brothers in service. Lt. John Mercier, in army transportation since 1941, now in San Francisco, and Cpl. Richard Mercier, Post Meyer, Fla., who have been notified, and will probably arrive here in time to attend the funeral of their brother; William Mercier, Pittsburgh, and David Mercier, Providence, who, with their parents, arrived here Friday evening.

Although full details of the accident were not available, it was disclosed by a Meyersdale relative that the entire crew met death when the plane crashed and burst into flames. All Lt. Mercier's possessions including valuable papers were lost in the flames.

Virtually every car on the road today is over three years old!

That means you are facing a new wartime need—the need for guarding your car against old age and today's driving conditions. It's wise to take care of your car—for new cars will be scarce for a long, long time.

Even when car assembly lines start up again, most of us will have to wait a lot longer than we think before "trade in" time comes around again!

Short Covering, Investment Bids, Help Stock Market Keep in Balance

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A little short covering and investment bidding helped the stock market keep its balance today although it was neglected, generally, by Wall Street which had eyes mainly for the opening of the Sixth Big War Bond drive.

Except for scattered climbers, trends were narrow from the start and dealings slow. Activity picked up a bit in the final hour when rails and steels stiffened and assorted specialties turned upward. Although declines were plentiful at the close, advances of fractions to a point or more were in the majority. Ahead were Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Goodyear, International Telephone, Pepsi-Cola, American & Foreign Power 2nd, Preferred du Pont, Grumman Aircraft, du Pont and Allied Chemical. Losers included Texas Co., Goodrich, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, A. A. C. C., Kennecott, Philip Morris and International Nickel.

Paced by rails and industrial specialties, the bond market moved up over a fairly broad range today. Advances ranged from small fractions to a point and in numerous cases two and three against only minor losses in the major groups. All departments of the Associated Press averages ended up .1 of a point with the rails at a new high since 1937. Sales of $9,960,900 compared with $8,158,600 last Friday.

30 Seniors Will Don Fort Hill Or AHS Grid Togs for Last Time

Each Team Slated To Have Seven Upperclassmen in Starting Lineup Thursday

Thirty seniors will don Fort Hill or Allegany football uniforms for the last time Thursday afternoon when the unbeaten and untied Sentinels and once-defeated Campers square off at 2:30 in their annual Thanksgiving day battle.

The Fort Hill squad includes fourteen seniors, half of them slated to be in the starting lineup, while the Allegany squad includes sixteen seniors. Like the Sentinels, the Campers will probably have seven upper-classmen on the field at the opening whistle.

The Campers' other seniors are Wally Harper, first-string back who is definitely out of the game with an injury; Tom Burns, hard-hitting reserve fullback; Dick DeHart, who saw plenty of action in the Martinsburg game last week; Bill Thompson, also sidelined by an injury; John Hast, Bill Swain, Dan Johnson, Bob Ritter, who started against the Bulldogs last Saturday, and John Shirley.

Coach Bill Bowers kept his Alleganyns in line yesterday due to weather conditions. The Campers' mentor says remaining workouts will consist only of light drills—brushing up on offense and defense. Bowers had planned a heavy workout.

Silver Lanes Set City League Pace

The Cresaptown Silver Lanes, sparked by Breedlove's 519 set, won two games from the Kelso aggregation Sunday to take the lead in the City Men's Bowling League. Frank Postman was high for the losers with 503. The Cresaptown team copied the second game by eight sticks and the third by one pin after dropping the opener by a dozen uprisings.

The Wonder Bar, previously tied with the Silver Lanes and Kelso for first place, lost three to Club Recreation. In other matches, Cadillac won a pair from German Brewery, Savoy took three from Van Meter's and Roky blanked the Teamsters 3-0. Walter Cox had 211-536 for Savoy to turn in the best set of the afternoon.

Next Sunday, the Silver Lanes and Wonder Bar will meet at the Diamond, the Teamsters and Cadillac will collide at Kelso's, Club and German Brewery will clash at the Roky. Kelso's will be host to Van Meter and Savoy will invade the Roky.

Chiff Books, league president, announced that Francis Twigg had been elected loop secretary to succeed Al Pirie, who recently resigned.

North End Tigers Won't Meet PBC on Thursday

"Turtle" Hartung, coach of the North End Tigers, announced last night that his team will not meet the Cumberland Police Boys' Club even in a game previously billed for Thursday morning.

According to Hartung, the Tigers have defeated the PBC combination three times this season—27-16, 25-0 and by forfeit—and have closed their campaign with a record of seven consecutive triumphs. The Bengals won by forfeit over the Queen City Bulldogs Sunday and are claiming the city independent championship.

Bainbridge Receives Ten Postseason Bids

BAINBRIDGE, Md., Nov. 20 (AP)—The Bainbridge naval training center, whose undefeated gridders have received ten bids for postseason games, announced today that none yet had been accepted nor would there be any discussions in the absence of navy approval.

Earlier, war bond drive officials at Richmond had said the Commodores would play a yet unselected team there for a war bond benefit.

However, Bainbridge officers said the reply to the Richmond bid had been merely that the Commodores were receptive to any postseason game and so advised the Richmond group and nine other cities which had made similar requests.

Army Starts Practice Today for Navy Game

WEST POINT, N. Y., Nov. 20 (AP)—Army's undefeated gridders took a day off today. They will start work tomorrow for their traditional clash with Navy on Dec. 2. Trainer Rolfe Bevan said the condition of the squad was "excellent" and expressed the hope that even Halfback Johnny Sauer, who suffered a broken wrist against Notre Dame, might be able to play against the Midies.

Thousands Seek Tickets for Dec. 2 Army-Navy Clash

Maryland War Finance Committee Is Swamped by Applications

By FRED STABLEY
BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—"No sir, we can't do anyone any special favors." That a bond receipt and $4.80 to the Maryland War Finance Committee and you'll get a ticket to the Army-Navy game.

"Miss Smith, this party wants to know if she can buy fifty bonds in the name of a club and get tickets."

"Miss Smith, here's Washington again. It's a senator's office."

"Winston-Salem is more than ten miles from Baltimore, isn't it?"

"Miss Smith . . ." and so on, ad infinitum.

Jangling telephones, jumbled people and jittery nerves—that was the normally sedate Maryland War Finance Committee office today a few hours after applications for service classic tickets became acceptable.

Across town somewhere, at an undisclosed rendezvous, eight men prayed for volunteer assistants and plunged into the first three batches of mailed applications—approximately 5,000 envelopes.

It's a cinch more than enough applications to fill the stadium—the acceptable mailed variety and not those given by phone or in person—will be neatly numbered in order of opening long before the first tickets are to be mailed out early next week.

No, the committee or Chairman F. W. Wrightson doesn't know how many civilians they can cram in the expected 70,000-plus capacity stadium after expansion now under way. The Army and Navy have first call on tickets and what's left over goes to civilians.

Questions on general public admissions, however, centered around 30,000 dependent on how many temporary stands will be erected in the stadium where normal seating capacity is 60,000.

The Navy, at Annapolis, will honor some 19,000 applications received for the game when it was due to be played in Annapolis.

The War department in Washington said the Army Athletic Association could meet ticket requests for its subscriber members—four each, and that other personnel should apply through the Maryland War Finance Committee.

And they are—in wholesale numbers.

Reds Report Profit Of $32,079 for 1944

CINCINNATI, Nov. 20 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds today reported net profits of $32,079 for the 1944 season after paying taxes totaling $147,727.

Powell Crosley, Jr., president, told the annual stockholders' meeting that home attendance totaled 414,209, an increase of 35,707 over last year, while road attendance was 449,339, a decrease of 37,465.

The club spent $79,000 for players during the year, exclusive of the $7,500 draft price for Howard Moses, 500 of Baltimore, the day after the close of the fiscal year.

Landis Spends His Birthday in Hospital

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball, spent his seventy-eighth birthday today in St. Luke's hospital, gripping mildly because his immediate release isn't in sight.

Leslie O'Connor, Landis's secretary, said he was tired of his hospitalization and was "off his feed." Otherwise, his condition is highly satisfactory. He's been there forty-nine days.

Alton Crigler, Franklin, Tops Scorers in PVC

Alton Crigler, who helped Franklin W. Val high snare its first Potomac Valley Conference football championship, topped conference scorers for the 1944 season with nineteen points.

Crigler had three touchdowns and one extra point and finished with a six-point edge over "Ace" Comer, of Ridgeley; Paul Harper, of Moorefield; Bill Tremum, of Keyser, and Stan Elyard, also of Franklin, each of whom had thirteen tallies.

Tied for sixth place were Bobby Sites and Junior Murphy, of Franklin; George Hott, of Moorefield, and "Pickle" Jones, of Keyser, each with a dozen counters.

John Sites, Franklin, had one touchdown and two conversions, and Ridgeley's Joe Moss made one touchdown and an extra point.

Keith Keister, Romney, Jim Blankenship, Ridgeley, and Hal Newcome and Jerry Hines, Keyser, each accounted for one touchdown. Bob Keller, Moorefield, and Bobby Lough, Franklin, complete the list with one point each.

Franklin, which won the conference title by defeating Romney 33-0 and Keyser 32-0, and tying Moorefield 0-0, scored the most points, sixty-five, despite the fact it didn't meet Ridgeley. In addition, the champs didn't yield a point.

Keyser, with three triumphs and one defeat, made thirty-seven markers and allowed forty-five. Moorefield, with one victory, one defeat and two scoreless ties, didn't give up a point until bowing 12-7 to Keyser in its conference finale. Individual and team scoring records follow:

1943 LaSalle Gridder Is Fighting in France

Pvt. Francis M. Passarelli, LaSalle high's all-city halfback in 1942 and 1943, is reported to be in combat with American infantry forces on the outskirts of Metz.

A year ago this time, "Scooter" Passarelli was scampers over the gridiron for the Explorers. Today finds him engaged in one of the war's major battles. He was graduated from LaSalle at mid-year, went into the service in March and left for overseas duty in August after a short furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Passarelli, 27 First street, Frostburg.

Passarelli's participation in the battle for Metz was revealed in a dispatch from Lee McCordell, Baltimore Sun war correspondent. "Scooter" is assistant gunner of a mortar section.

Riggs Handicap At Pimlico Won By Seven Hearts

By JOHN F. CHANDLER

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 — (AP) — With Twilight Tear scratched just before post time because of track conditions, J. Graham Brown's Seven Hearts speeded to an easy two-length victory over Bon Jour today in the nineteenth running of the $25,000-added Riggs handicap at Pimlico Race track.

Breezing to an early lead, Jockey Paul Keiper had the Louisville colt in front all the way, as Seven Hearts shook off a brief stretch challenge by Charles Turner's Bon Jour to annex the $21,600 first money and boost his year's earnings to $87,335.

Seven Hearts' backers in the crowd of 10,224 were rewarded with $3.30, $2.40 and $2.20 for $2 across the board.

Mrs. E. D. Jacobs's Stymlie, moving up at the three-quarter pole in the mile and three-sixteenths test after getting away last in the field of six, finished three lengths back of Bon Jour, while W. P. Wetherall's Lord Calvert was six lengths farther away in fourth spot.

Seven Hearts covered the distance in 1:58 4-5 over a good track despite the day-long drizzle which caused Trainer Ben Jones to scratch Twilight Tear, a leading claimant to horse-of-the-year honors, much to the crowd's displeasure. The time was four-fifths of a second off the best previous time for the Riggs at this distance, established by W. L. Brann's Piccadilly in 1941.

It was the third victory in a row for Seven Hearts, and his seventh in thirteen starts this year, including the Westchester handicap at Jamaica.

The son of Grand Slam drew away apparently without effort when Bon Jour moved to a neck at mid-stretch, but despite the urging of jockey Ted Atkinson, the Turner entry couldn't close the distance in the stretch drive.

Christiana stable's Megogo, never in the running, managed to snare fifth, eight lengths in front of William Heile's Allie, which showed an early burst of speed, but was through after being third at the half-mile marker.

County War Fund Drive Opened at Kickoff Dinner

Navy Chaplain Says Servicemen Abroad Give Thousands to Fund

Stating that servicemen abroad have already raised thousands of dollars for the National War Fund campaign and their home community chest drives, Lt. Paul Herbert Olander, navy chaplain and veteran of the invasions of North Africa, Sicily and Italy, said yesterday that men overseas are counting on the folks at home to contribute to both drives.

Lt. Olander, now stationed at the Back bridge naval training center, spoke at a dinner meeting in the Central YMCA at 6:15 p. m. yesterday. The dinner marked the official opening of the united campaign of the National War Fund in Allegany county and the Cumberland Community Chest for $115,000.

Introduced by Edmund S. Burke, general chairman of the campaign, who presided at the meeting, Lt. Olander described some of his experiences during the landing at Casablanca in November, 1942, and the subsequent invasions of Sicily and Italy the following spring. His talk was broadcast over WTBO from 7:30 until 8 p. m.

Rescues Survivors

Stationed aboard the USS Scott from September to December in 1942, Lt. Olander was returning from burial services ashore during the African invasion when the Scott was torpedoed. He participated in the rescue of survivors of that ship as well as those from other stricken convoy vessels in the area.

"I loaned my blouse to one of the sailors who was soaked through," Lt. Olander related. "He returned later and thanked me, saying that the army men had mistaken him for an officer and had given him a complete army officer's uniform."

The speaker said that there was no rivalry between the army and navy overseas, and stated that when the survivors of the Scott left Casablanca, ninety per cent of them were wearing borrowed army uniforms, having lost their own clothes in the sinking of their ship.

Describes Invasion

During the invasion of Sicily, Lt. Olander related, he remained on the bridge of the USS Boise, to which he was assigned in January, 1943, and broadcast an account of the battle to the engineers and other members of the crew below decks.

At one time four enemy planes came over and dropped flames, which Lt. Olander reported over the ship's microphone to the crew below decks. No bombs were dropped from the planes, however, and in a few minutes one of the engineers called him on the ship's telephone and asked, "Are you sure those flames weren't stars, padre?"

In the early spring of 1943, Lt. Olander said, the Boise returned to North Africa to give the crew a rest after the Sicilian invasion. The men wanted to go swimming, but there was no way of transporting them to a swimming place.

Twelve miles distant, Lt. Olander visited a colonel in charge of an anti-aircraft unit, offered to supply the unit with twenty gallons of ice cream every three days from the Boise's galley, and got the loan of two trucks to take the men swimming every afternoon.

Sees Action in Pacific

Lt. Olander was attached to the Boise until last April, and saw action in the Admiralty Islands and New Guinea in the Pacific before returning to this country. He has been stationed at Bainbridge since May 26.

Receiving his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Maine in 1939, Lt. Olander was pastor of the Second Congregational church, Palmer, Mass., until he became a navy chaplain May 12, 1942. He received his bachelor of divinity degree from Bangor theological seminary, Bangor, Me. in 1942, just before entering the navy.

Another speaker at the dinner meeting, which was attended by 200 persons, was Stewart P. Cort, state National War Fund chairman and general manager of the Sparrows Point Corporation.

In a brief talk, Cort called for unity of effort in the combined campaign here, and stated the necessity for wide publicity in making such an effort successful. Cort completed a successful campaign in Baltimore which raised two and one-half million dollars in twenty-three days.

The Rev. W. Randolph Keefe, Jr., pastor of Grace Baptist church and president of the Ministerial Association, opened the meeting with an invocation. Other campaign leaders who spoke briefly were Everett R. Johnson, chairman of the publicity committee; Miles G. Thompson, chairman of the classified section; Charles E. Stutzman, co-chairman of the union industrial section; Roy G. Lottig, associate chairman of the classified section; E. M. Brown, campaign director, and Victor Rule, Baltimore, manager of the state War Fund campaign, who introduced Cort.

Minister Will Speak At Meeting of Lions And Kiwanis Clubs

The Rev. Carl H. Clapp, pastor of St. Marks Evangelical and Reformed church, will be the speaker at a joint meeting of Lions and Kiwanis clubs here Wednesday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA. His subject, "The Fallen Walls," is on the subject of the fall of the Roman Empire, and the fall of the world's great empires.

Ministers Invited To Visit Factories

Labor is resentful of the kind of preaching that promises the blessing of heaven to the poor without demanding justice and the full abundant life on earth. Dr. Robert T. Kerlin, editor of the Western Maryland edition of the CIO News, told members of Cumberland's Ministers' Association yesterday morning at a meeting in Central YMCA.

Safety Program Is Recommended At Swanton Mine

Fire Hazards and Other Dangers Are Cited by Federal Inspector

Proposals for removing fire hazards and other dangers involved in mining coal at the 150-ton-a-day Swanton mine of the Kootenai Coal Company at Barton, are outlined in a federal reinspection report forwarded by Dr. R. R. Sayers, director of the Bureau of Mines. Safety improvements also are credited in the report.

Employing twenty-seven persons, the mine was re-examined recently by Federal Inspector J. C. Davis, who urged that protection against fire be strengthened by the exclusive use of permissible electric cap lamps instead of open flame lights, special protective clothing and equipment, underground, and by increasing fire-fighting facilities. In other places, he said, the use of explosives has been ignited by open flames, Davis pointed out.

Davis's other recommendations called for a no-smoking rule in the mine and shop, tests for explosive gas with a permissible flame safety lamp at least once a month, systematic timbering, wider use of special protective clothing and equipment, an effective checking-in-and-out system, a safety organization of workers and officials, and a comprehensive program. Production per lost-time injury, he said, decreased from 8,435 tons in 1943 to 7,814 tons the first eight months of this year, compared with the national average of 8,800 tons per accident for coal mines.

The mine was commended by Davis for discontinuing the practice of blasting coal "off the solid" and for using an effective safety drag on the mine's main haulage system. The improvements were made since the previous federal inspection in December, 1943, and, according to Dr. Sayers, were due to "company initiative, the co-operation of workers, compliance with orders of the Maryland Bureau of Mines, and recommendations of government inspectors."

Surviving are his widow, the former Miss Arthur Franklin Himmelfarb; one son, King Richardson, and one sister, Mrs. Sudie Widley, both of Washington, D. C., and two grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at the church in Davis at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday with the Rev. W. M. Erhard, Clarksburg, W. Va., officiating. He will be assisted by the Rev. W. K. Roof, Grafton, and the Rev. Eugene Smith, pastor of the churches at Davis and Elkins. Interment will be in Davis cemetery.

Twigg was arrested early Saturday morning by Officer Edward Woods on a charge of siphoning gasoline from a G. C. Sensabaugh truck parked on the company's lot on Thomas street.

Twigg is being held in the county jail pending a hearing on the charge of breaking his parole of five years for larceny and receiving stolen goods, Fletcher said.

Paul Dircks, 621 Baltimore street, arrested last in the same case, was acquitted in trial magistrates court recently on a charge of tampering with a motor vehicle.

Mayor and Council To Consider Zoning Ordinance Next Monday

Wild Geese Misjudge Airport for Stream But Leave in Hurry

The Cumberland Municipal Airport is not a stream of water but a body of land, when a flock of wild geese, apparently headed southward, landed on one of the runways and began turning somersaults, according to Charles F. Heller, superintendent of maintenance at the port.

Rain on the runway gave it a shiny appearance and the geese apparently mistook it for a body of water and began rolling all over the place only to make a quick take-off after discovering their mistake.

Several years ago wild geese mistook a highway near Oakland for a pond of water and plunged to their death on the hard surfaced highway.

Consideration of the proposed zoning ordinance for Cumberland will be taken up next Monday morning at the meeting of the mayor and city council. The time was set after Charles Z. Heskett, city attorney, said the ordinance has been completed and is ready for consideration. It contains over thirty names and will take considerable time to read.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock the council will meet with Arthur J. Weber relative to the purchase of land needed at the airport.

Other business transacted at yesterday's council session follows: Payment of $989.63 to the tax collector for state and county taxes in connection with the tax sale of property known as the "Liberty Trust Company's" Riddsdale Account. An insolvency was granted for city taxes.

Refund of $5 to J. Frank Ogle, 93, Gay street, for overpayment of water rent.

To close the city hall Thursday for observance of Thanksgiving. To grant the police commissioner permission to advertise for a second hand five-passenger car for the department.

To pay Julius Damm, retired city worker, $50.

A letter from D. D. Parker, 626 Laing avenue, complained of the condition of the street and the communication was referred to Commissioner Hunter B. Helrich.

The Miller Oil and Supply Company was granted a permit for a recapping plant at 436-442 North Centre street.

Anthony J. Scaletta operating as the Bud Radio Service, 133 South Mechanic street, was granted a second hand license.

Finance Commissioner William E. McDonald was authorized to negotiate with Paul E. Kasey, 25 Roberts street, for the latter's purchase of three Roberts street lots owned by the city. McDonald was instructed to sell the lots for the total tax and other liens against them.

Thomas L. Popp was allowed until April 1 to place a sidewalk and curb at his property at Glenmore street and Kent avenue. Popp said he believes he has a buyer for the lot.

A. J. Kompanek, 511 Pearre avenue, protested against an alleged proposed change in the location of an alley by the Schmidt Bros. Company. Such a proposal has not been submitted to the council.

Airport receipts last week were $420.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 74,110,000 gallons. The daily average was 10,587,000 gallons as compared to 10,799,000 for the same period last year. Lake Gordon is one foot, eight inches below the crest and Lake Koon is 18 feet below.
